The Faculty

Now we come to that learned group, the faculty. Many new faces and varied personalities greeted us at the opening of school last September. A few — Mr. Donnelly, Mr. Baad, Mr. Tolly, and Miss Eiden — left us during the course of the year.

Members of the faculty have sponsored school activities this year with their usual care and patience. During the school spirit campaign, the faculty put on an assembly seconding "The Challenge" presented by members of the student body the previous week.

A never-to-be-forgotten skit was given by the teachers for public entertainment at the Sophomore Prom, when the poem, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" was read and acted out in pantomime.

We regret that some members of the faculty will not be with us again next year, but express our best wishes to the faculty of 1943.

Senior Class

The senior's freshman year, under the fatherly guidance of their class adviser, Mr. Hohman, began their long trek toward graduation. In their first meeting they elected Carl Clark as their president, George Mains as vice president, Richard Ely as treasurer, and Valerie Levy as secretary. As freshmen they had begun to take greater part in the school activities, and made their first real appearance at the anual Sophomore Banquet

The following year Mrs. Barron took over as their adviser. All of the class officers went to boys; Eddie Barber, president; George Mains, once again vice president; and Bernard Fansler, secretary and treasurer. Lloyd Worthington and Richard Ennis represented the class on the student council. This year they broke the twenty year old tradition of the Sophomore Banquet, and instead presented the Sophomore Spring Swing. They retained the program of speakers and stunts given by each class, and secured Mrs, Samenen as Mistress of Ceremonies. Their theme was "The Airplane Flight". Everyone had such a good time dancing to the music of Ted Walworth's band that they forgave them for jumping off the beaten track.

Mrs. Martinen had the thankless job of advising this class during their junior year. At the first class meeting they elected Janet Cook president; Marilyn Stiles, vice president; Valerie Levy, secretary; and Thelma English treasurer. Don Gemmill and Jean Gelenius were the junior members of the student council. In May they presented their junior play, "Young April", under the direction of Mrs. Samenen. The Kiwanis Club helped them sell tickets and consequently they had a full house. They also entertained the seniors at the annual Jr.-Sr. Reception. With decorations, the gymnasium was converted into a sidewalk cafe. Gene Nelson's band furnished music for dancing, and punch was served.

At last they became the mighty seniors! Their class adviser, Mr. Baad, left to take a better position, and his sucessor, Mr. Connelly, was their adviser for the rest of the year. Marilyn Stiles became president this year with Marilyn Jones as vice president. Tommy England, was elected secretary, and Cleo Winchell took the treasurer's job. The Student Council was renamed the student War Council, and their representatives, Janet Cook and Clyde Stratton, were chosen president and vice president, respectively. Mr. Roach, the new dramatic coach, directed the senior play, entitled "Remember the Day". It made a real hit with the full house that attended it. They also enjoyed the traditional skip day, held on May 20th. Starting with an unusually large class, they lost several of their members to the armed forces of the nation. However, at graduation they were still one hundred strong.

Now that they are departing, they leave all the honor and responsibility of the Maize and Blue of Hillsdale High to the classes which will follow them. May they always remember that H.H.S. deserves only the best.

The Voice of Prophecy

It's nineteen hundred and fifty-five
Many people are still alive
Who remember that famous day of the year
When the class of "43" graduated from here.
And we thought perhaps you would like to know
What our classmates have done in those twelve years or so.
Well, there's Tom Bates, the big blow,
He's now a barker in a side show.
Imogene Carr and Richard Watkins
Are thinking up new Ag concoctions.
Lloyd Worthington, though twelve years late,
Has brought his English theme up to date.
Donald Gemmill and Carl Clark
Operate a farm called "Moonlight Park".
Have you heard about the General Eddie Barber
Who rivals the fame of General MacArthur?
And speaking of fame, did you see
That Stiles beat Eleanor R. for presidency?
And her right hand woman at her White House home
Is that cute little trick, our own Moe Jones.
Jack and Julia, our dancing pair,
Now rival Rogers and Fred Astaire.
And Patty Cordrey, as you all might guess
Is now head librarian for the U. S. Congress.
The Arch sisters, Lyla and Marie,
Are now second lieutenants in the W.A.A.C.
And when we last heard from Dick Defay,
He was head waiter in a French cafe'.
Jean Gelenius, we are glad to say,
Is now in business with Jack Holliday.
Gertrude Foster, the girl with allure,
Now wears a sarong like Dorothy Lamour.
And then Dean Houghtby surprised us all
By making an appearance in Carnegie Hall.
Bill Ford, our shy little lad,
Is now selling cloaks in far off Bagdad.
Have you heard the latest about Betty Dagon?
She's selling chow in her new lunch wagon.
Worth Denny and Vera Clark
Are designing gowns in Gramercy Park.
Bernard and Basil, those Fansler boys,
Make their fortune whittling toys.
Donna Burnham, with all her poise,
Still thinks she is tops with the college boys.
Our business woman, Arline Bricker,
Is playing the stock markets and watching the ticker.
And, oh yes, Luella, how about you?
Aren't you in the business of making glue?
Phyllis Smith and Irene Welch, those red-headed misses,
Work in a charity bazaar, selling kisses.
Doris Bramen and Dick, now that the war's all over
Are living in a light house on the Cliffs of Dover.
Billie and Buck, so we've been told
Have one little boy, just two years old.
Jo Cascarelli, that fruit selling lass,
Now lives alone in a house made of glass.
That great baseball man, Frank Dospoy

Is doing his best as the Tiger's bat boy.
Betty Dimond Caywood for Reno is bound,
Because home came Glen with a great big hound.
Peacock and Berry, we are sorry to say,
Have joined the air corps and flown away.
Bob Comar, a clerk no more,
Has now become manager of the A & P store.
Tommy and Carl, so we've heard people say,
Still quarrel and make up every day.
That quiet and skillful worker, Chester Cook,
Is now churning butter for Meadow Brook.
Lloyd Elliot, now that gas is no longer rationed,
Is raking in the money in an airplane filling station.
Dick Estell has now risen from delivery boy
To Postmaster General of Illinois.
Keating and Hutchins, those two little maids,
Are now hunting snakes in the Everglades.
Van Arsdalen and Johnson, who like to roam around
Are still making trips to a neighboring town.
Our dog catcher, Bob Guise,
Has now retired, which seems very wise.
Colleen Houseknecht has made herself a great name
By painting pictures for the Hall of Fame.
The last we heard of poor Gene Hale
He had just got out on a thousand dollar bail.
Mary Ziegler and Helen Heamon
Are now married to second class seamen.
Our very troublesome Richard Ennis
Is still considered a public menace.
That dark little damsel, Lottie Rice,
Makes her fortune shaking dice.
Donna Bishop, still quiet and shy,
Is running a street car to the sky.
Much to our surprise, that unsuspected Janet Cook
Has just written a book on, "How to be a Crook.
Have you heard about Esther Moyer? Oh, my stars!
She has just finished a flying trip to Mars.
Gale Lape, as you all might know,
Is now the giant in the Barnum-Bailey Show.
Kessler and Caldwell, (need we say more?)
Are still just as happy as they ever were before.
The great manufacturer, Richard Strauss,
Is now making apples into apple sauce.
We're happy to hear that Carol Jean and Larry,
After all of these years, have decided to marry.
There's none happier than Elsie Ferguson
Who's married the man whose heart she won.
And there's Bill Hukill, we're proud to know,
Has now become president of the C. I. O.
Valerie and Howard have now ended their spats
And are earning their living raising cats.
The Malarney sisters, Mary, Frances, and Phil,
Are living in Holland in a little dutch mill.
The jiving jitterbugs, Savage and Stearns,
Are teaching the hepcats the whirls and turns.
We've just been told that Cleo Winchell is famous preacher.
While Jack Southern is a kindergarten teacher.
Coming in last is Lyle Place,
Who ran six days in a marathon race.
Bob Morley, though quite by mistake,
Is making a drug to keep people awake.

We're surprised to learn that Waldner and Moine
Have gone into business making counterfeit coins.
And we hear that you, Hazel Slade,
Are now Society Editor of the Toledo Blade.
Then there are Bob Watkins and Clyde Stratton, this tale is quite sad,
They are both in asylums, for they both went mad.
Wanda and Fern, these twelve years later,
Are pushing their babies in a perambulator.
Don Holmes, the idol of the people,
Is quoting Shakespeare from the top of a steeple.
Iris Traxler and Elizabeth Straub
Fell head over heel for a couple of gobs.
Then there's Bob Morlock and Ruth Randall;
Publishing a newspaper called, "The Hillsdale Scandal."
Proctor and Warren have never gone places,
Because they spend their time watching races.
Buster McSherry and Robert Scholl
Are doing nicely, so we've been told.
Ardith Swarthout, we hear, has gone far.
She's now in a circus as a trapeze star.
And her boss on the job, as every one knows,
Is that famous ring master, Richard Rose.
Then Bernadette McDonough surprised us all
By building a city inside of a wall.
Lucille Risk and Doris Van Fleet
Have gone into business cleaning the streets.
Vietta Smith is nobody's fool.
She is now Dean of Girls in the Hillsdale High School.
Then how about you, Glenadine?
We heard you made your fortune selling vaseline.
Betty Squires is quite busy, we hear,
She goes North every year to hunt two-legged dear.
There's much we could say about the McClellans, Phyllis and Mary,
But if you don't mind we don't think we should tarry.
This ends the story of our one hundred class mates
Who are living in all parts of these forty eight states.
And as a whole, you certainly must see
We are pretty proud of this class of "43".

Junior Class

An active and ambitious Junior class has completed a successful year. With the opening of school, the Juniors elected officers who were Ardis McNeil, president; Robert Caulkins, vice-president; C. J. Howe, treasurer; and Sarah Dimmers, secretary. John MacRitchie and Doris Jennings were chosen student council members. Mr. Kerbawy served as class adviser.

Many class activities have been chalked up, including two class parties, one in November and one in March. Both were very successful affairs. On April 30th, the class play, "Don't Take My Penny," was presented to a full house.

The Juniors also won the inter-class contest coming in at the very last with over three thousand dollars worth of stamps and bonds.

The crowning glory was that big social event of the year, the Junior-Senior Reception. This fine party, given to honor and say farewell to the Seniors, was one long to be remembered.

Summing it all up, an exceptionally fine year is behind the class of '44 and they are looking forward to their Senior days.

Sophomores

Mrs. Barron, Class Adviser; Martha Beck, Treasurer; Thomas Sawyer, President; Joan Dibble, Secretary; Laverne Giauque, Vice President.

Sophomore Class

With anticipation the class of '45 entered Hillsdale High School and there they have made their mark. An unusually large and spirited class, they have added to the student body in the way or parties and inter-class contests.

As usual, the first duty of this class was to elect officers. At this meeting Tom Sawyer was elected president, LaVerne Giaque, vice-president, Joan Dibble, secretary; and Martha Beck, treasurer. Mrs. Barron again acted as class adviser, keeping all Sophomores in tow.

Three major events can be credited to this class, two parties and the famous Sophomores Spring Prom. Both of the parties were very successful and were held in the Junior Music room with the usual games and refreshments. The Prom, general chairman Sally Douglass, was a party for the memory book because of its clever stunts, speeches, and decorations. The class of '45 may indeed be proud of a fine year.

Mr. Henry, Class Adviser; Betty Ann Schmidt, Secretary; Morris Finnisy, President; Beverly Taylor, Treasurer; David Gettings, Vice President.

Freshman Class

The Junior Hi's top class of active and popular freshmen selected Morris Finisy as their president for the school year. Dick Gettings provided the vice for the class as understudy to Morris. Betty Schmidt scribbled notes, officially termed minutes, acting as secretary. Counting her stocks of money was treasurer, Beverley Taylor.

All these little boys and girls threw together the exciting and surprising class play "Murder in Rehearsal". The play was the big thing in their year and set a precedent for future freshman classes.

They did their share in the skit department for the Sophomore Prom. A radio program provided background for their performance.

A couple of Friday night parties provided variety during the long spring months. Cleverly decorated, Junior High music room provided location for the success.

Among other activities the freshmen participated in the scrap drive and contributed money for chorus robes. Furthermore, there was at least one freshman boy in each athletic activity!

An energetic and resourceful class is on its way into a colorful career in Senior High.

Seventh Grade

A young and eager new group of seventh graders have entered Hillsdale Junior High, to begin their long journey toward graduation. By this time the class has gotten itself well acquainted with its new surroundings, and is undoubtedly beginning to find high school extremely interesting. Tween Towers extends greetings to Junior High's newest class.

Student War Council

A loyal and patriotic student council changed its name this year to the Student War Council, in order to be in accord with the times. The Council, made up of the presidents, vice-presidents, and representatives of the senior high grades, got under way in their first meeting of the year by electing officers. Those students elected to the offices were; president, Janet Cook; vice president, Clyde Stratton; secretary, Doris Jennings; and treasurer, LaVerne Giaque.

With Mr. Henry as its adviser, the council started the year by promoting the scrap drive for the senior high school. A large scrap pile in front of the school house was the result of this enterprise.

Following this the council boosted the victory book campaign by sponsoring an assembly, with an admission fee of one book. They used the slogan, "The one you want to keep is the one to give." The students responded with a great many fine books for our fighting men.

At the beginning of the new year, the council voted to push the sale of war stamps and bonds by staging a contest between the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. When the contest closed May 4, the losing grade was responsible for giving a party for the other two grades. The Seniors could not equal or surpass the flood of money that poured in from the Sophomores and Juniors; therefore a Victory party was given May 21 by the Seniors in honor of the winning grades.

In the meantime, during April, another stamp contest was being waged by home rooms. The room having the lowest percentage of participation by the students in buying stamps and bonds was destined to give an assembly for the rest of the senior high. As a result of these contests the stamp and bond sales were boosted nearly eighty percent.

In honor of the graduates of Hillsdale High who are in the armed service, an almost complete honor roll was made by members of the council. This honor roll, consisting of nearly one hundred and fifty names was published in the Tween Towers in the March issue.

The Student War Council has devoted all its time to aiding the war effort. We hope our boys have received some of its benefits..

Junior High Student Council

This year for the first time a Junior High Student Council has been formed. This organization is made up of four students from each grade, who meet and solve some of the problems that come up during their school activities.

Morris Finisey was made president; Betty Jean Woodman, vice president; Dick Smith, secretary; and Betsy Friedrichs, treasurer.

This group, under the direction of Mr. Hohman, has been extremely active the year for a new organization. They have not only given several parties, but also have sponsored a scrap drive. From this scrap they obtained a substantial amount of money and generously donated $25.00 to the Red Cross and $25.00 to the U.S.O. The remaining amount was donated to the chorus in order to help buy their gowns.

The Junior High Student Council has proven itself to be a fine organization and we hope it will continue to function for many years to come.

Laticlave

Something new has been added to our list of extracurricular activities A Latin Club, Laticlave, to all past and present Latin students, was formed and organized in March.

The members are the students of the class which meets second hour, and they have chosen Paul Coppeler, president; Nancy Farnsworth, vice president; and Joan Dibble, secretary.

Under the motto "Those who do not advance, fall behind," the club chose the theme, "Roman Life" for their meetings this year. Using a system whereby every member had an opportunity to be a discussion leader. various students gave talks concerning customs of the ancient Romans. Meetings were held twice monthly under the advisership of Miss Hackett, Latin teacher.

For the annual Latin Week in April the club gave the traditional Latin Assembly. Under the direction of various members, several skits and a Roman dance were presented.

This enthusiastic club is planning on sending in an application to be connected with the National Latin Headquarters for next year. Other plans for next year include dues for the members; consequently they will be able to be more active in school affairs.

This club is different and definitely advancing, leaving no opportunity to "fall behind."

Future Farmers

"Are you hungry? Do you long for a nice, thick steak smothered in mushrooms? ?" The Future Farmers to the rescue! But where are they? Oh, here they are—hidden down in Mr. Rawson's room and dreaming of—food!

Dean Peacock was elected president of this industrious organization with Don Gemmill as vice president. Carl Clark flourished the pen as secretary.

Business with a capital "B" was the program for the year. State reports, and business records were taken off in due order.. Since all-county meetings were abolished due to gas rationing, the boys were confined to local chapter meetings but in order to keep up with the best methods of farming, increased correspondence with other organizations became necessary.

On the exhibition side of farming, we find grain and vegetable displays were presented at the county fair in the fall by our Future Farmers. In the sports world, a Future Farmers Backetball team gave stiff competition in this year's intramurals.

New Future Farmers this year were Richard Strauss, Tom Bates, Richard Watkins, Dean Houghtby, Richard Scoville, Junior Hamm and Richard Sell. Striving for State Farmer's degree were Carl Clark, Dean Peacock, and Don Gemmill. To reach this goal, these boys must be in the upper 40% of the class, and they should have $250.00 (how could they . . . hmmmmm?) saved for or invested in livestock or equipment. Also, during the past two years they have had to produce a large number of crops and livestock. (Hope they keep on doing it, because I'm hungry!)

For the State Convention at East Lansing in April, Dean Peacock and Don Gemmill (those two get around!) were chosen to attend.

This increasingly important organization has "plowed" its way successfully through the past year leaving social activities to the starving and tended to business matters completely! And here's to bigger and better crops next year!

Girl Reserves

The Girl Reserves began the school year with a broken tradition on their hands! For the first time in its twenty six years of existence the club had a junior president. Former presidents have been seniors. Lorabeth Moore held this office with Marilyn Stiles as vice president; Sally Chapman, secretary; Carol Jean Storer, treasurer. Miss Laaninen and Miss Smith held sway as faculty advisers.

The annual Freshman Party provided a means for getting acquainted with the new members. These new members attended separate meetings on Thursdays for several weeks during the fall to learn the procedures of the club under the direction of Miss Laaninen and Marilyn Stiles, preparatory to their initiation in November.

Unexpectedly, the girls were notified to have the annual conference here, if possible, in November. It was possible! Jean Gelenius was general chairman of the affair. Girls from Reading, Waldron, Litchfield and Coldwater attended this district conference.

For Christmas the service department went into action! The senior girls sent boxes to boys in the service and the juniors furnished a basket for a needy family, the sophomores collected money for the Community Nursery School and the freshmen gave a party for underprivileged children.

In early February the Girl Reserve and Hi-Y co-operated in presenting the popular G.R.—Hi-Y formal. The party was held in the Junior High music room and couples danced to the smooth music of the Rhythm Masters. Katherine Rogers and Dick Scovill were co-chairmen of this annual occasion.

The girl's fathers were next on the list of guests to be entertained. March 18 saw them escorting their dads to the Carl Bailey school for a banquet. Katherine Rogers was social chairman in charge of the proceedings and Hon. Judge Charles O. Arch was the speaker.

Other spring events included election of next year's officers under a new system of election, the annual Mother-Daughter tea, and the traditional Senior Breakfast.

One of the most important highlights of the second semester was the visit made by Miss Lazelle Alway of the national board of the Y.W.C.A. on April 28.

Another eventful year can be chalked up to history and the girls are hoping to see just as successful a year beginning next fall.

Hi - Y

"The senior and junior boys gathered together, all on a Wednesday night" . . Thus began this year's Hi-Y organization under the presidency of Curly Ennis with Bill Johnson to substitute as vice-president when necessary. Gene Hale was there first semester to take the minutes and read 'em off at the next meeting while Bill Ford paid another kind of bills as treasurer. Mr. Samenen filled the job as group adviser.

On November 4, initiation services were held for 19 new members after a co-operative supper. The new initiates increased the membership to approximately 35 members. Later in the month the boys sponsored a pep session for the last football game of the season with Vicksburg..

An Older Boys' Conference was held in Kalamazoo on December 4 and 5. Hillsdale's Hi-Y club was represented by two junior members, Frederick Greenley and Jim Robison.

In January the fellows combined with the Girl Reserves to hear Mrs. Preston Slosson's talk on family relationships. They also helped contribute the muscle, money, and co-operation necessary for putting on the traditional G.R.—Hi-Y formal held on February 5. Dick Scoville was the Hi-Y chairman along with Katherine Rogers, G. R. chairman.

Later in February the club had its mid-year election of officers. Don Van Arsdalen, senior, took over as president; Bob Isaacson, vice-president; Carl Clark, secretary; "Doc" Howe, treasurer, and John MacRitchie, sergeant-at-arms. A membership drive occupied the club's efforts for the next month or two.

The annual meeting of the Hi-Y of the southwestern section of Michigan was held in Battle Creek on April 26. Our local organization was represented by several of its members; Bob Watkins, Bill Ford, John MacRitchie, Don Van Arsdalen, Lloyd Worthington, Bob Caulkins and Dick Scovill. New methods of club management and programs were discussed and brought back by the boys to be incorporated into next year's club. In early May the club sponsored another assembly. Two Japanese students attending Hillsdale College spoke about their experiences in the relocation camps and here at the college. They had previously talked to the boys at one of their meetings.

The officers for next year were chosen in May, too. Dean Foulke will be president; Fred Greenley, vice-president; Charles Gregory, secretary; Paul Borton, treasurer; and Dick Scoville, sergeant-at-arms.

Senior High Booster Club

The comparatively inactive Booster Club sprang to action this year! Living up to their title as Boosters, the members elected Carl Clark as president; Clyde Stratton, vice president Doris Jennings, secretary; and Onalee Townsend, treasurer. Miss Mary Alice Smith acted as faculty adviser.

In early November,, the annual initiation banquet was held in the cafeteria. Mr. William Carmichael, Y.M.C.A. secretary was the speaker of the evening, giving several new ideas as to what such a club could do for the school. In a lighter vein, he served as song leader.

In March, the results of several weeks planning and work headed by Joan Dibble were presented as the new and ver ydifferent "Variety Show". Under the direction of Mr. Connelly, a grand combination of old style talent and a running accompaniment by the modern "Rhythm Masters" supplied the audience with an enjoyable evening's entertainment Sufficient profit was made from the "Variety Show" to enable the club to contribute a substantial amount to the Senior High Chorus for their long-awaited robes. Next year's club will have money to back them in planning definitely for the publishing of a Hillsdale High School Handbook.

This year has seen the return of the Senior Booster Club to an active part in the school affairs, and we are sure everybody is happy about it.

Junior High Booster Club

The school's richest . . . hmmmm! . . . .club is the Junior High Booster Club. Boosting scholarship and supporting worthwhile projects and programs form the policy of this organization. With the forty new members from the seventh grade who were initiated in February, the club's membership has been the largest in several years.

The boys and girls have sponsored ice cream sales. Among their activities this year we find they started a bulletin board in the Junior High library and sponsored an entertaining assembly by a chalk artist. Being of a generous nature, this organization contributed handsomely to the chorus for their robes, and bought ping-pong balls and phonograph records.

Socially their big event was an elaborate costume party held in the Junior High music room. Varied entertainments and refreshments were on hand for the guests.

A new type of club government was instituted with the formation of a Junior High Booster Club Council. It consists of the Club officers and one representative from each home room thus making their influence felt by all students.

Ending the year with Betty Jane Woodman as president; Shirley Scovill, vice president; Lillian Nordin, secretary; and Sarah Jane Dohse, treasurer; the club is looking forward to another profitable school term. Miss Rose Packer served as faculty adviser

Band

The fall season opened for the band with fifty six would-be musicians and a new idea for a formation to give at one of the later football games. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Lint a patriotic pageant was perfected and the boys and girls marched their feet off only to have the big night arrive . . . . but convoyed by rain! The band did one of the smaller formations from the whole and left the rest for some future band and football game!

On November eleventh, the band participated in the Armistice Day assembly with guest speakers from the college and Fort Custer.

Our annual Christmas concert occupied the time and labor of the band, orchestra, and chorus. In spite of being last (but not least), on the program, the band had a varied and exciting group of pieces.

March of this year proved an important month in the "career" of the band. They played at the Army-Navy "E" presentation at the Allied Products. From this came outside publicity in a trade paper and other publications.

This year the annual Music Festival has become another "casualty of the war," in Mr. Lint's words. Consequently, for a spring program the three top musical organizations planned and presented a concert on May 27. This appearance was followed by the band's presence at the annual exhibit in June.

During the year the band gave an assembly of light, entertaining music for the students' enjoyment.

Another successful and colorful year has been filed away in the history annals of our popular band.

Orchestra

Composed of thirty four students, the orchestra made its first important appearance at the Senior Play on December 4, under the baton of Robert Lint. They played before the curtain rose and in between acts.

December twenty second saw their second appearance at the Christmas Concert. Opening the program they were led by Edwyn Hames of the college for the first number, At another point, they accompanied the chorus in "America", a tone poem.

An assembly was given by this organization in early April. The music was for entertainment purposes only and did its job well! At the last of this month, the orchestra played for the Junior Play before the rise of the curtain and between acts.

On May 27, they co-operated with the chorus and band to present a new and different Spring Concert. The most important number on the program was "Ballad for Americans" played and sung by the orchestra and chorus with Mr. Connelly as soloist.

The baccalaureate and commencement exercises in June were set to music by the orchestra.

With their new uniforms in stock the orchestra has completed another successful and entertaining school year.

Senior High Chorus

Miss Helen Garlington has been in charge of Senior High Chorus for the past year and this group has certainly done a splendid job this last nine months.

In the winter, the chorus joined with the orchestra and band in presenting the traditional Christmas Concert on December twenty second.

In March the boys and girls put over a clever assembly based around the piece, "Frankie and Johnny". Cecilia Thomas and Dean Houghtby, Frankie and Johnny, respectively, acted the plot in pantomime. This same program was presented to the Kiwanis one Tuesday noon.

A Spring Concert—something new!—was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, and consisted of music from the chorus, band, and orchestra. After many months work on "Ballad for Americans", the chorus, with Mr. Connelly as tenor soloist, sang this famous song, accompanied by the orchestra.

Another important achievement of this year's chorus was the obtaining of robes for future high school choruses. With the financial help from many other groups, the students were able to swing it and buy the long-awaited garments.

Important progress has been made this year in the advancement of the chorus as an active musical organization, and the members deserve a lot of credit.

Junior High Chorus

Fifty four students from the eighth and ninth grades meet once a day in the Junior High music room under the direction of Miss Helen Garlington. This group composed the Junior High Chorus, an experimental organization.

This class deals with the "changing" voices of its members and proves that early adolescents can sing well without ruining their voices. These boys and girls will also provide "feeder" for the Senior High Chorus.

Making their first appearance with the Senior Chorus on December 22, at the traditional Christmas Concert, the Junior singers co-operated in singing "America," a tone poem by Ernest Williams. Their "solo" debut came at the annual Pythian Sisters Convention in the spring at which time they were very well received. The program was as follows: Brahm's "Evening Hymn;" "Summertime," solo by Peggy Spieth; "In the Still of the Night"; "Ja Da"; and "Aloha Oe".

This group will also have use of the robes obtained for the choruses this spring, having helped in the financial end of the deal!

We are looking forward to the continuation of this plan of training adolescent singers. We hope to see them more often at our own school functions.

Debate

Eight students congregated during first hour to constitute this year's debate class: "Doc" Howe, Lorabeth Moore, Harold Munn, Sarah Dimmers, Tom Sawyer, Sally Chapman, Larry Miller, and Bob Caulkins. Under the coaching of Mr. Baad, the debaters fought over the question, "Resolved: That a Federal World Government Should Be Established."

Two men teams were the order of the day, as against last year's three men teams. Chosen to defend the affirmative in the firs Twin Valley debate league for the first tourn-and Sarah Dimmers worked together. Representing the negative from our school were "Doc" Howe and Sally Chapman. These two teams remained the same for the rest of the semester.

Our squad was host to members of the Twin Valley debate league for the first tournament held on November 30th. The other schools participating were Albion, Marshall, and Coldwater. Beginning sucessfully, our teams placed second in the first round of the tournament by winning two out of its four debates. The affirmative defeated its traditional opponents, Albion and competently eliminated Coldwater in their secon dtry. The negative lost both their debates in close competition with Marshall and Coldwater. The judges were members of the Speech Department of Michigan State College.

On January 16th, the second tournament was held in the Albion High School. The same four Juniors represented Hillsdale. On this occasion the negative was victorious over Coldwater but were again defeated by the Marshall affirmative team. Our affirmative team was put out of the running by Albion and Marshall. A banquet was held in the cafeteria at Albion when the final debates were over.

The final tournament ratings were Marshall, first, with eight victories out of eight; Albion, second, winning four out of eight debates; Hillsdale, third, losing five out of eight; and Coldwater, fourth, with one victory out of eight.

Forensics

This year Hillsdale had an unusually sucessful forensic squad. In an assembly early in April, Sarah Dimmers did brilliantly in dramatic declamation with "That They Might Be Saved." Mary Stearns turned out for oratory and spoke about "Education, the Weapon of Democracy." There were two oratorical contestants this year. Dick Luedemann gave "The Union Soldier," and Susan Ray's speech was "Don't Die On Third." These four students invaded Coldwater for the district contest. They returned home, a victorious crew. Sarah had talked her way into first place in dramatic declamation. Mary and Dick followed in second place in oratory and oratorical declamation respectively. Susan also participated.

With top honors, Sarah moved to the regional contest held in Union City on May 6. Receiving the reward of a dictionary which is given to all district winners, she placed third.

Under the competent direction of Miss Mary Alice Smith, Hillsdale High School has had one of the most successful forensic squads in many years.

Tower Guard

With the publishing of issue Number 7, volume 2, "Tower Guard" completed its second year of service to Hillsdale Junior High. The editors, reporters, and adviser of the "Tower Guard" have, to the best of their ability, published a paper with colorful, interesting news coverage for its many Junior High readers.

Heading the staff this year was Rowland Dow, who served as managing editor. Oletha Bevin and Dick Gettings, handling the jobs of feature editor and sports editor respectively, did a splendid job in assisting. Dan Wheaton, an eighth grader, held the important post of news editor. Lillian Nordin and Nancy Lamberson held down the "Personals" and "Jokes" columns, which added spice to the Junior High publication. Betty Jane Woodman inaugurated the "Home Room" column which was well liked by many of Tower Guard's readers. Dick Smith and John Greenley served throughout the year as business managers, and Joan Haddix headed the circulation department.

Faculty adviser was Mr. J. P. Roach, who besides doing a wonderful job in organizing the paper, led Tower Guard's ambitious editors to North Adams on their bikes several times, for the purpose of "Putting the paper together".

All in all, the Tower Guard can be congratulated on having such a successful year and we wish them the same good fortune nextyear.

Tween Towers Staff

A crazy, ambitious staff has struggled hrough another year of midnight revelries with the old typewriter, and the desperate fights to meet the printers' deadline. Miss Smith again served as faculty adviser.

The results of an early fall meeting at editor "Doc" Howe's home found Lorabeth Moore and John MacRitchie as assistant or associate editors. Goodness knows, poor "Doc" was going to need two in the months to come! News was gathered in by Marjorie Pino with the help of Fred Greenley and features were tossed helter-skelter by Sally Chapman and Charlotte Booth. Onalee Townsend knew all and told all in the popular gossip columns and Martha Throne evaluated the choicest bits from outside papers. Sports editors were scarce and temperamental but Don Van Arsdalen and Bob Morlock, who took over after Eddie Barber's departure for the army were here, there, and everywhere—happy as ever! Doris Jennings ended the year with Carl Rossetti as her fellow business manager, while Marjorie German replaced Julia Popiel as circulation manager for the second semester.

Spectacular headlines and themes for the next issues became the specialties brewed by these strange people. The second issue was proof of this, as three editors soon found out! Having written and published a challenging editorial to the football team, they were the victims of the loud furor that followed.

The following issues were less spectacular but were none-the-less interesting. Many were the Thursday evenings spent tearing the hair together to get some sort of edition ready for the printer on Friday—but the fun of seeing it get through on time was worth the struggle and the sleepless nights!

The staff has worked hard in bringing the annual in on time, too. As have staffs in the past, we wanted to make this THE annual. We hope we have succeeded and that you like it.

Senior Play

The final dramatic accomplishment of the class of '43 was presented on December 4th, 1942, when "Remember the Day" a romantic comedy, was enacted. Twenty five hand picked seniors played before a house filled to capacity. The early 1900's was the time of this play and the trials and tribulations of Dewy Roberts was the plot. Don Holmes made his debut to the appreciative Hillsdale audience in the lead, while very able support was offered by Richard "Curly" Ennis and Jean Gelenius, more experienced actors. The schoolroom scene was very authentic because an unused schoolhouse was vacated to furnish the properties including a row of those well remembered country schoolhouse desks.

Mr. Josh Roach, head of the dramatic department, directed the production, assisted by Carl Rossetti as student director and other student committees.

The unusally large cast was as follows:—First Bell Boy, Don Van Arsdalen; Second Bell Boy, Bill Ford; Nora Trinell, Jean Gelenius; Flower Girl, Bernadette McDonough; Reporter, Jack DeWald; Dewy Roberts, Don Holmes; Kate Hill, Marilyn Jones; Tom, Bob Morlock; Steve, Bob Scholl; Ellen Talbot, Valerie Levy; Miss Price, Carol Jean Storer; Dan Hopkins, Richard Ennis; Mr. Steele; Eddie Barber; Edith Phelps, Julia Hoover; Mrs. Roberts, Phyllis Smith; Charlie, Gene Hale; Dorothy, Ruth Randall; Edgar, Carl Rossetti; Mildred, Thelma England; Jane, Joyce Savage; Mr. Roberts, Lloyd Worthington; Mr. Phelps, Cleo Winchell; Miss Kline, Iris Traxler; Anna, Gertrude Foster; D. R. Roberts, Dean Peacock.

Junior Play

One of the funniest and most successful comedies ever presented in Hillsdale High School was, "Don't Take My Penny," put on by the Junior class of 1943. It was directed by Josh Roach, who helped greatly in making this three act farce go over with a bang.

All three acts took place in the Pringle living room, and this play showed the coming and going of an average American Family. The play revolved about Penny and her desire to go to Hollywood. Many entangling and queer situations arose from this desired career. One particular incident to be remembered was Paul Borton, disguised as Gloria Lovel, attempting to discourage Penny. A record time was taken for the audience to quiet down after his identity was discovered. The tempo was kept moving and thus carried the audience away with simple, laughable, sincere situations.

Martha Thorne was the student director and C. J. Howe was stage manager.

The characters are as follows:—Penny, Doris Jennings; Joanna, Katherine Rogers; Kerby, Bob Isaacson; Greg, Paul Borton; Caleb, Frederick Greenley; Lydia, Sally Chapman; Mavis, Sarah Dimmers; Mark, Howard Keas; Sally, Violet Risk; Norman Porter, John McRitchie; Gram, Lorabeth Moore; Monsieur Henri, Sammy DeFranco; Harrison Day, Dean Foulke; Claire, Leona Ruth; Elsie, Colleen Goodwin; Lucile, Louise DeRose; Red, Frank Gemmill.

Freshman Play

March 19, 1943—8 o'clock—the curtain rises and history is being made in H.H.S., for the Freshman Class is presenting its first play. This play, a mystery farce, entitled "Murder In Rehearsal" by Austin Goetz, was well cast, well acted, well directed, well in fact it was super in all ways. It was unique in that it was two plays in one, and an interesting thing about it was that no one, even the cast seemed to know how it was going to come out until the very end. The play centered around a murder and the finding of the murderer. It all ended, much to everyone's surprise, by discovering that no one was really killed but rather that the whole cast was rehearsing for a play the next night—thus cleverly solving what seemed insolvable.

With splendid direction from Miss Garlington and technical advice from Mr. Josh Roach the play was a huge success. Hal Cozzens acted as student director and the rest of the cast was as follows:— Jack Ellery, Royal Hames; Claudia Warren, Katherine Sherman; Mrs, Fiske, Marilyn Roose; Mroton Hill, David Lanius; Harold Knight, Richard Gettings; Chubby Forbes, James Coppeler; Trilby, Susan Ray; Sheriff Cullen, Jack Garrett; Sheila Burnett, Joanne Robison; Daffy Carmichael, Wayne Sener; Marge Penny, Marlynn Murray; Bunkey Simms, Frances Carey; Stock Hilton, Robert Herman.

Praises to a fine play and may this Freshman Class Play idea live for many years.

Sophomore Prom

March 26, 1943 found many H.H.S. students and faculty members dancing in the gymnasium at the 26th annual Sophomore Prom. The traditional banquet was dispensed with again this year, but the usual class stunts and speeches were given in the auditorium preceding the dance.

The class of '45 chose the garden for its prom theme this year and carried it out both in speeches and decorations. As in the past each class and the faculty had a speaker and a stunt. Morris Finisy spoke for Freshmen on "The Seed", Tom Sawyer represented the Sophomores with "The Root", Bob Caulkins talked on "The Stem," for the Juniors, and Don Holmes, senior, spoke on "The Fruit". Miss Hackett speaking for the faculty gave a very clever original poem on "The Gardeners:" After each speaker the class presented a stunt. The prize was captured by the Juniors who cleverly depicted a scene from Hitler's office. Another notable skit was the faculty, who hilariously showed the audience many hidden talents no one knew the teachers possesed.

After the auditorium program the guests adjourned to the gymnasium that was completely transformed into a garden by clever decorations. Multicolored streamers served as a screen on the edge of the floor for tired dancers to rest behind. Tables and refreshments were near by for ones enjoyment. The Rhythm Masters furnished music for the dancers.

Laurels to the Sophomore class and to Sally Douglas, general chairman, for such a fine all school formal.

Formal Extravaganza

The pause that refreshes

Girl Reserve -- Hi-Y Formal

Cupid reigned and reveled at the G. R..—Hi-Y Formal held on February 5th in the Junior High Music Room. This dance, one of the leading social event of the school year, was unusually well attended by both Girl Reserve and Hi-Y members. It is the only closed dance of the year. Entering through a heart shaped door the couples found a room so decorated with hearts and such that they felt sure that they had found Cupid's Dreamland. The theme, that of St. Valentine's Day, was carried out to the extent of having the punch served through a big red heart in the far end of the room which was torn open during intermission. Dances were kept by the use of dance programs with red hearts on them and the band played before a panel of red and white frills and miniature hearts. The Rhythm Masters made their first appearance at this formel and they were extremely well received. The high-light of the evening was the grand march led by Curly Ennis and Lorabeth Moore, club presidents.

Katherine Rogers and Dick Scovill were the co-general chairman of the dance and with the aid of effecient committees an A-1 party was put on. Miss Smith, Mrs. Ford,, Mr. Samenen, Mr. and Mrs. Katzenmeyer, Miss Hackett, and Miss Erickson were on hand to chaperon. Many confirm the fact that it was a formal to be remembered.

Junior-Senior Reception

As we go to press the Jr.-Sr. Reception is the next big event to come up, but a little sneak-preview was given us by Bob Caulkins, general chairman. This is the most anticipated and elaborate affair of the year and annually each class attempts to outdo the previous class as far as decorations go. With much secrecy the theme is guarded and for days before the eventful night the gym is closed, locked and guarded better than a bank.

This Reception sounds exciting and diffferent with the gym being transformed into a Spanish patio and a real honest tc goodness fountain in the center. The orchestra will be Charlie Fletcher's band from Jackson. The Spanish atmosphere will be carried out with lighting effects, costumes for the band-members, programs, and refreshments.

All in all it will be an exciting evening when the Juniors honor the Seniors.

The Rhythm Masters

"It seems to me I've heard that band before . . . .. ". And, now, my little jive morons, we have a swing band of our own! Such lovely music as those Rythm Masters give forth—loud or soft, smooth or hot, they have it right in stock!

In the middle of November "Chuck" Gregory organized the band and gave it financial backing with help from Mr. Lint of the music department. The fellows rehearsed faithfully in the bandroom until mid-January. At that time they made their first appearance in the Junior High music room to play for an audition for the G. R.—Hi-Y formal.

They were accepted and on February 5, they played—but solid! ! Their next important appearance turned out to be in the "Variety Show" on March 19. The band provided background music throughout the greater part of the show. One week later the boys came in on the down beat for the Sophomore Prom. In between times the Parish Hall was the place to find the Rhythm Masters of a Saturday.

Other towns have heard of our swing band. Consequently, North Adams, Hudson, and Addison have been left with musical memories of the "Masters!". Backstage, difficulties were particularly acute in North Adams where the trombone section was hit hard! The first casualty happened to be a sick trombone player and to top things off the other player's horn came apart . . . .! !That's life, though!

In the beginning, as stated above, Chuck Gregory was the financial backer and leader, but after February 5, the outfit turned consolidated and elected Carl Rossetti as their director, Chuck for business manager, and Clyde Davis to be librarian; that is, to dash around and collect the music and keep it on hand! This spring, however, Chuck resigned his post and Clyde moved in as his successor. Bob Scholl fell heir to the headaches of the librarian. We're all proud of this new and up-to-the-minute musical organization. Furthermore . doesn't their music just send you right out of this world . ?

Football

The Hillsdale High School Football team of "42" opened its grid season September 18th at Morenci, and was beaten by the score of 13 to 6. The loss of this first game set off a jinx among the team members and they were plagued with fumbles and intercepted passes for practically all the rest of the season. This helped greatly in bringing about the loss of six of their eight games.

September 25th the Hornets traveled to Blissfield, where they were beaten by a score of 7 to 2.

The Hornet's third defeat came a week later when they hit their traditional rival, Coldwater, and were defeated by the disheartening score of 25 to nothing.

After this last set back the Hornets began to get desperate, so when they clashed with Hudson, October 9th they proved they still had plenty of what it takes by whipping them 19 to 7.

The next game was with Montpelier on October 16, which turned to be highly unsuccessful for the Hornets, when they were beaten 25 to 6.

The following week Michigan Center also cashed in on the Hornet's losing streak by a 20 to 12 victory.

The next game was an exciting tilt with St. John's Military Academy. Hillsdale came out victorious in this game with a 25 to 7 score.

The last game of the year was with Vicksburg. This tilt was another loss for the Hornets, when a score of 20 to 7 in favor of Vicksburg was turned in.

Basketball

One of the finest records H.H.S. has had in many a year was turned in by the fighting Hillsdale Basketball team of "43". In fine style they chalked up nine wins against only four losses, which goes to show that this team had what it takes to win games.

The Hornets' season started off with a bang, when they defeated the North Adams Rams 22 to 18. The following week they met Sturgis and after putting up a terrific battle, were finally beaten 31 to 27. Another setback came two weeks later when they went to Albion and were defeated by a score of 33 to 22.

However, on January 15th the Hornets threw off their losing streak and thoroughly trounced the Adrian Maple Leafs 31 to 24. Two more victories followed, when the Hornets downed, first the Jonesville Comets 37 to 31, then the Reading Rangers 30 to 20.

The next week the Hornets were forced to chalk up another loss when Sturgis defeated them 45 to 28.

February 5th, due to some brilliant shooting by Dean Foulke, the Hornets bagged Albion by the score of 39 to 28. On February 9th the Hornets forced the Adrian five to bow for the second time in the season when they defeated them 47 to 21.

On the following week the Hornets played Jonesville a second time, and much to the surprise of all, were thoroughly trounced by the score of 33 to 25.

North Adams again proved to be a willing victim of the Hornets wrath when they fell to the Hornets, 44 to 33.

Last and best of all was the fact that the Hornet squad licked its traditional rival, Coldwater, twice in the same season. First 42 to 31 and later 29 to 27.

In the district tournament, which was held at Albion College Field House, the Hornets played the last game against Marshall and were snowed under 40 to 22. This tilt closed the basketball season for "42" and "43".

Baseball

Again this year the Hillsdale Hornets placed a strong nine in baseball competition. Led by Don Gemmill's and Jack Keehn's pitching, the Hornets have had some thrilling games. With the bulk of the conference games yet to be played at this writing, prospects are still good for a sucessful season in conference competition.

The baseball team of "43" opened its season April 16th at Albion and were badly defeated by a score of 10 to 1. Many of these runs were caused by errors on the part of the Hornets.

On April 23rd the Hornets, after a rather one sided game, defeated the Coldwater Cardinals 7 to 1.

The next opposing team was Jonesville, who fell to the Hornets 4 to 2 after being rained out in the fifth inning.

The next game the Hornets played, was with Marshall, in which the Redskins thoroughly trounced the Hillsdale nine by an 8 to 3 score. This game was played on the Hillsdale College diamond.

The following game our boys played Coldwater for the second time, and, much to the surprise of all, were beaten by the Cardinals 9 to 5. In this game Don Gemmill led the Hornet attack with four hits in four official times at the plate.

A little later in the season the Sturgis Trojans invaded the Hornet home grounds and gave Hillsdale the worst shellacking it had up to this time . The Trojans, going hog wild, drove out a 12 to 0 defeat to the amazed Hornets.

Physical Fitness

At the beginning of the second semester, Mr. Davis announced the addition of a new course to our curriculum, physical fitness. This includes three days of gym work and two days of First Aid for the boys and two days each of gym and First Aid and a series of Everyday Living for the girls. Each student in H.H.S., with the exception of certain music students, is required to participate in this nation-wide program.

Miss Murray and Mr. Wolfe, physical education directors and both graduates of Hillsdale College, have had charge of this program with Mrs. Wilbur Grommon and Mrs. Wm. Lint, volunteer First Aid teachers, each supplementing two days a week.

An exhibition of the work of these classes was held on May 24th. Many things including pyramid building, relays, sunts, boxing and rope climbing were done by both boys and girls showing their contribution to the war effort by keeping physically fit.

This program has been well received by all concerned, and with the exception of a few accidents has progressed without mishap. With Mr. Davis, Miss Murray and Mr. Wolfe attended a demonstration of physical fitness in Ann Arbor and came back with many practical and interesting ideas. Although this is a war program devised to make better army material and prepare students for any unexpected accidents, still many feel the benefits received will warrant the carrying on of Physical Fitness in H.H.S.

Seniors in Varsity Athletics

In the graduating class of "43" there has been no small number of boys who have entered into athletics with a lot of enthusiasm. Here are some brief sketches on what these fellows have done in sports here at Hillsdale High.

Cleo Winshell——"Scrubbles" did such a fine job at his position at end on our football team that he was given co-captainship of the squad during his last year. Cleo also turned in some fine games as guard on the basketball team, and was first baseman on the baseball team. Cleo's hobby is dodging bullets at the Hill theatre, and his favorite foods are ice cream and apple pie. He wishes to join the Navy Air Corps, and we certainly wish him all the success he deserves.

Carl Rossetti——"Rosey" has played a fine grade of football in his position at tackle, and when he hits a man that man knows he has been hit. Spaghetti and meatballs are Carl's favorite foods, and he wants to go to the University of Detroit.

Frank Dospoy——Frankie plays guard on the football team and is catcher on the baseball team. Frank is Hillsdale's mighty midget, but that doesn't stop him from being dynamite on the field. His hobby is working for Krogers, and his favorite food is hamburg.

Don Van Arsdalen——Van played center in football, and also played some basketball. His favorite food is chicken, and he seems to like to go to Tween Towers meetings.

Dean Houghtby——Dean played guard in football. His favorite food is milk, and he seems to like to dance best of all.

Carl Clark——"Boney" played tackle on the team and did some mighty nice playing. His favorite food is meat, and he too likes to dance.

Bill Ford——"Dux" played end on the football squad and forward in basketball. His favorite food is jello, and his ambition is to become a naval officer.

Robert Watkins——"Meatball" played football, basketball, and baseball. Bob's favorite food is meatballs, and what he likes to do best is, strangely enough, go to Jonesville.

Lyle Place——Lyle is a typical Hillsdale backfield man. By that we mean rough and rugged. He played his position very well and was given co-captainship during his last year. He also played baseball. His favorite food is ice cream, and his ambition is to become a good milkman.

Donala Holmes——"Chippy" played fullback on the football team. His favorite food is toasted pork sandwiches. He also likes to dance with good looking blonds.

Gayle Lape——Gayle, like Dospoy, is another one of Hillsdale's little men. He played center on the football team and also played baseball. He was manager of the basketball team through most of his high school career. His favorite food is candy.

Bill Johnson——Bill played center in basketball and scored ninety points to lead in individual point making. Bill also played a little baseball.. His favorite food is bananas.

Dean Peacock——Dean played center on the basketball squad. His best liked dessert is apple sauce, and his ambition is to become a good farmer.

Don Gemmill——Don played baseball and basketball in a fine manner, and helped greatly in winning some of the games his team won. His favorite food is noodles, and he, like some others, goes to Jonesville quite often.

Dick Strauss——Dick played baseball. His best liked dessert is pie, and he wants to become a restaurant proprietor.

Tom Bates——Tom played baseball. His favorite food is pineapple and his ambition is to run a gas station.

Bob Morlock——Bob played baseball. He enjoys eating pie and cake best, and his ambition is to become a flyer.

So ending the summary of the Hillsdale High School athletes that are graduating in 1943.
